A photograph of Rensselaer Central High School at dusk. The school building is illuminated from within, showing a modern design with large windows and a flat roof. In the foreground, two large, dark trees with dense foliage are silhouetted against the sky. The sky is a mix of light and dark clouds, suggesting the time is either dawn or dusk. The overall mood is quiet and serene.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 12.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased from 4.5 million to 6.5 million (Office of National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out a vision for the future of older people's services. The strategy is based on the principle of 'active ageing', which is the process of maintaining and enhancing the health, participation and security of older people. The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives, including: to improve the health and well-being of older people; to increase the participation of older people in society; and to ensure that older people are secure and safe. The strategy is a key document for the development of older people's services in the UK.

The 1973 CHAOS is dedicated to Mr. Loren Karns, a man who served the student body of RCHS for four years. He gave to the students his guidance and the ability to care about them in all aspects of life. His memory—the spirit of living which he possessed—shall remain as a cherished treasure to us all.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million (1990–1999) and is projected to increase by a further 1.5 million by 2010 (Office of National Statistics 2000).

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop strategies to meet the needs of the ageing population. The Department of Health (2000) has identified the need to develop a new paradigm of care for the ageing population, one that is based on the concept of 'active ageing'. This paradigm is based on the idea that older people should be able to live independently, to be active and to participate in society. It is a paradigm that is based on the idea that older people should be able to live independently, to be active and to participate in society.
